

1. Input to the Defense Intelligence School's courses

(Eleven resident courses; several courses make up larger ones:
e. g., National Senior Intelligence; Joint Intelligence and Defense Attache Systems Courses.)

- a. Substantive presentations (lectures).
- b. Curriculum guidance (mainly from CIA Representative at DIS.)
- c. Course material (CIA publications, including classified intelligence reports).

2. Support

CY 1972

- a. CIA presentations - 190.
- b. Total hours - 450.
- c. Total individuals - 120.

3. Liaison

CIA representative on premises (presently GS-13; previous reps have been in grades up to GS-15).

- a. CIA's channel for Agency's support.
- b. Selects CIA speakers; handles logistics; introductions.
- c. Arranges special tours and briefings at CIA Hqs.
- d. Advises on curriculum development.
- e. Lectures and leads seminars on selected topics.

*Carol - OK
for BSTR's Owen
briefing book*

Next 1 Page(s) In Document Exempt

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

FACULTY ADVISOR

1. Represents the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) with the Commandant, Defense Intelligence School, and serves as the channel for all CIA training support to DIS training requirements including lectures, briefings, tours and training materials.
2. Obtains from appropriate CIA components, training materials requested by DIS and approved for their use.
3. Arranges for senior CIA lecturers and briefs them, as necessary, on subject coverage and course background. If appropriate, introduces CIA lecturers. Arranges approved CIA briefings and tours.
4. Monitors selected presentations, including all CIA presentations, and evaluates for the Director of Training/CIA, and for Commandant/DIS, the quality of the presentation.
5. Advises the Commandant on program and course development and revision, and assists the DIS faculty in such development and revision.
6. Prepares and presents lectures and conducts seminars on matters concerning CIA and other matters as requested by the Commandant, DIS.
7. Assists the DIS faculty in the evaluation of students as required.
8. Within the framework of "Need to Know" and other security limitations, clarifies for DIS staff, faculty and students, questions concerning CIA.